

TGM joins Cardno

On behalf of the team at TGM Group I would like to announce that our business is joining with Cardno, an Australian based infrastructure, environmental and social development company. Cardno operate internationally and employ engineering professionals across Australia.

From a client perspective its business as usual at TGM – all TGM Executive Directors will remain in the business and are committed to ensure the transition to new ownership is a success for all stakeholders. The range of services offered to TGM customers will be expanded due to Cardno's Victorian capacity in environmental, geosciences and traffic / transport services.

Cardno commenced business in Queensland in the 1940's and has an ongoing commitment to regional Australia with a strong presence throughout Qld and NSW. Cardno have chosen to invest in TGM to strengthen their Victorian service offering in line with their capacity in those states.

TGM commenced operations in 1995 with the merger of Ballarat and Geelong based consultancies. The establishment of our Melbourne operation in 2003 has seen the business grow to employ over 130 skilled professional, technical and support staff. The combined Cardno operation in Victoria will employ approximately 350 staff as part of its Asia Pacific South consulting business.

TGM has been built on the talents and dedication of our staff, a stable and committed leadership group and a diverse range of loyal clients. Several months ago the TGM board decided that it was appropriate to seek the next stage in the development of the business to provide growth opportunities for staff and an expanded service offering and capacity for our growing client base.

TGM provides Cardno with access to highly professional teams in urban development, survey / spatial science and structural engineering. The businesses complement each other very neatly in the Victorian context and we look forward to making a positive contribution to this state's growth and development through our expanded networks and capacity.

Don't hesitate to reach out to your TGM contact if you have any queries. Our business will be rebranded as CardnoTGM later in 2019.

Thankyou for your support of our business, have a joyful festive season, and we look forward to continuing to work with you.
